EXHIBITOR GUIDELINES & REGULATIONS

Insurance:

It is the sole responsibility of the Exhibitor to ensure their collateral materials are insured from the time they leave your office until they are returned after the show. A rider to your existing policy can usually do this. Check with your insurance carrier for details.

Discount Price Deadline Date:

Save money by ordering your rental items, material handling and labor on or before the discount deadline of Wednesday, September 14, 2011.

Labor Costs:

There is no direct labor cost to exhibitors for the standard booth setup (see General Information in this service kit). Installation and/or dismantling labor costs may be required for exhibitor booth setups that exceed the standard. This cost is the sole responsibility of the Exhibitor. Please refer to the service kit for pricing.

Material Handling vs. Shipping Costs:

“Material Handling” (also known as “drayage”) is the moving of exhibit materials from one location to another and the associated fees for such service. Whether you ship to the advance warehouse or directly to show site, your materials still need to get to your booth location. Material handling services include the accepting of your material either at the warehouse or at show site, delivery to your booth, storage of empty containers during the show, returning empty containers at the close of the show, picking up your packaged materials, returning them to the dock, and loading on the carrier of your choice. Material handling charges are in addition to any shipping charges you may incur from the carrier (trucking company, UPS, FedEx, etc.) you select.

“Shipping” is defined as the cost to move your exhibit materials from their origin point to either the advance warehouse or directly to show site and (if necessary) to return them after the show.

Material handling and shipping costs are the sole responsibility of the Exhibitor. Please refer to the service kit for material handling pricing. Contact your shipping carrier for their rates.
